No. 11

Message from the Secretary-General

UN Secretary-General U Thant has extended the following message to United Nations staff members. It first appeared in the Secretariat News published at United Nations HQ, and the Blue Beret is reproducing extracts from it.

"As the year draws to a close, I wish to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of you for your personal contribution to the achievements of the Organization during the past twelve months".

"Once again new demands on the United Nations have implied even greater demands on the time and energies of the Secretariat staff. The peace-keeping operations in Cyprus, greatly expanded technical assistance programmes and the three-month Trade and Development Conference were only a few of the responsibilities which were added to your workload."

"The coming year marks the twentieth anniversary of the United Nations." "Although we are at present passing through one of these uncertain periods, we should draw courage, confidence and inspiration from the manner in which the United Nations has emerged strengthened from such trials in the nineteen years of its existence.

"In an effort to focus attention on the areas of United Nations activities in which members have joined their efforts rather than on the conflicts which have divided them, the General Assembly decided to designate the coming year as International Co-operation Year, and Member states throughout the world are planning special programmes emphasizing the fruits borne by this spirit of co-operation. Let us start the twentieth year determined to make it a milestone in the history of the Organization, not only in years but also in the realization of the goals expressed in the theme of the International Co-operation Year — "peace and progress through co-operation"

Week of financial crisis at UN HQs

THE past week was marked at United Nations Headquarters in New York by intensified private talks seeking a solution of the U.N.'s financial-constitutional crisis. Meetings of the General Assembly had been scheduled for Wednesday to complete, as the General Assembly President put it, some unfinished business. However, the President, Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, told the Assembly Wednesday morning that behind-the-scenes work was continuing, and another meeting of the Assembly was scheduled for Thursday morning.

Following further talks, however, it was postponed until this morning, Tuesday December 29th.

At issue are the heavy arrears listed against the Soviet Union and several other countries on the Congo and Middle East peacekeeping accounts, and the U.N. Charter clause dealing with the loss of the right to vote in the General Assembly when arrears reach the equivalent of two years' assessments.

The Soviet Union contends that the Congo and the Middle East assessments involved are not legally binding obligations. Others, in particular the United States, contend they are.

In order to avoid bringing the matter to a head, the Assembly agreed when it opened that a moratorium on

THE President of the United Nations General Assembly, Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, made the following statement on Wednesday, 23 December:

"A meeting of interested delegations was held this afternoon and an exchange of views took place.

"It was agreed that the next meeting of the General Assembly will be held on Tuesday, 29 December, at 10.00 a.m."

formal voting should be observed during the initial period of its session devoted to general policy statements.

A total of 75 countries already have taken part in the general debate, and others indicated the desire to speak in January.

OUTPOST IN THE SNOWS

THE 1st Battalion the 22nd (Cheshire) Regiment provides a twenty-six man detachment at Troodos. The detachment is accommodated in a building in Troodos village, about one mile from the 6403 feet high Mount Olympus. Their duties include the furnishing of patrols as ordered by Battalion Headquarters and normally two sections are on stand-by while the other is off duty.

This small detachment, whose personnel change weekly, has contributed the only really traditional Christmas scene in Cyprus — snow and Christmas trees forming the background to their normal life.

The detachment have not been slow to take advantage of the warm sun and crisp snow of the past weeks and skiing has been the order of the day for those whose duty permits. The Battalion is fortunate in having several keen and well qualified skiers who, when time allows, instruct 1952 when he attended a three week course at Winterburg in Germany, and later he was attached to the Norwegian Home Guard (the equivalent of the Territorial Army) for some six months during the period 1962-64, being awarded the Norwegian Ski Federation Bronze medal in 1963. Colour Sergeant Gaunt has also been an Army Basketball coach and referee since 1959.

Cpl Ian Lovegrove of Wallasey was also with the detachment. A product of the Infantry Junior Leaders Regiment, where he reached the rank of Junior RSM, he is also a qualified outward bound instructor. Another expert skier, he first learnt on a three week course in Norway in 1960 while with the Junior Leaders and has skied frequently in Germany.

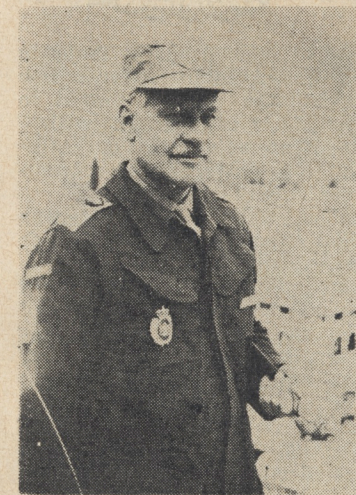

Another skiing expert is Private Peter Brooker of Chester. He first skied in December 1962 at St Andrewsburg in the Hartz Mountains while on a three week Winter Warfare course and he was a member of the Battalion slalom team which finished fifth in the 2 Inf Div championships in 1963 at Oberrath. Pte Brooker is a Regimental Signaller and helps to maintain the radio link between the Troodos detachment and the Battalion HQ at Polymedia.

The youngest member of the detachment was Pte Charlie Carress of Birkenhead who did not join the Battalion until September of this year. A keen cross country runner, he hopes to take part in the Battalion Athletics next year.

Lederen af DANPO II, politikommissær M.A. Schmidt, er normalt leder af en af Københavns travleste stationer, Antonigades politistation nær ved Kongens Nytorv. Gennem snart fire måneder har politikommissæren myndigt ledet sine yngre kolleger. Af udseende minder han mere om en engelsk oberst - lille hvidt overskæg og "pinden" under armen - end om en dansk politimand. Men distinktionerne paa uniformen, politiskiltet og nationalitetsmærkerne lader ingen i tvivl.

- Politifolkene er glade for tjenesten paa Cypern, fortæller politikommissæren, som in øvrigt blandt

I øvrigt er det første gang i historien, at et samlet dansk politikorps forretter tjeneste i udlandet, og det er da sjovt at tænke, paa, at der i dag er danske politifolk, der gør tjeneste helt fra Grønland i nord, paa Færøerne, i Danmark til Cypern i syd.

- Har man fundet frem til afløserne af Deres folk?

- Hvad er Deres største indtryk fra Cypern?

Politikommissæren betænker sig kun en kort stund. For ham er det ikke fjendskabet mellem befolkningsgrupperne eller Cyperns smukke steder.

- Man modtager jo et væld af indtryk hernede, men de vidunderlige børn, de sorthaarede, mørkøjede unger, har gjort et stærkt indtryk paa mig, og det vil hænge ved i land tid.

Den 11. januar ankommer den nye "commander". Det bliver den tredje chef for det danske politikontingent paa Cypern, men den første tingent paa Cypern, men den første kriminalpolitimand paa lederposten. Det er kriminalkommissær Hugo Andersen fra Københavns Opdagelsespolitisk afdeling C - ogsaa kaldet "Flyverne". Og kort efter hans ankomst kan politikommissær Schmidt vende hjem til sin station i bevidstheden om, at han i fire måneder har ydet sin indsats i fredens tjeneste.

- Vi har været glade for at være paa Cypern. Det har været en oplevelse udover det sædvanlige, men levelse udover ddlevelse udover det vi er trods alt glade for, at vi skal hjem nu, sagde de to politifolk samstemmende.

Kriminalbetjent Sv. Harder nikker bekræftende og fortsætter:

UUTEEN VUOTEEN

Vuosi on vaihtumassa. Uuteen vuoteen lähemme uusin toivein ja usein myös jännittynein mielin: mitä on edessä. Varsinkin näissä olosuhteissa, joissa nyt elämme, muodostavat uuden vuoden odotukset entistäkin mielenkiintoisemman vaiheen elämässämme.

Yhdistyneet kansakunnat ovat vuosien mittaan osoittaneet tarpeellisuutensa. Huolimatta monistakin arvostelevista lausunnoista ovat kaikki olleet yhtä mieltä maailmanjärjestön tarpeellisuudesta.

Tulokset puhuvat selvää kieltään. Yhdistyneistä Kansakunnista on muodostunut maailmanpoliittisten ongelmien keskustelu ja ratkaisuforum. Se ei suinkaan ole, eikä pidäkään olla maailmanhallitus vaan juuri paikka, jossa voidaan rauhan merkeissä keskustella vaikeistakin kysymyksistä. YK on myös kansainvälisten kriisien yhteydessä ryhtynyt aina pikaisesti toimenpiteisiin. Tälläkin hetkellä rauhanturvajoukot ovat toiminnassa eri puolilla maailmaa. YK:n teknillisen avun ohjelma ja erityisjäjestöjen työ on paisunut mahtaviin mittasuhteisiin.

Rauhan säilyttäminen maapallolla tuntuu tällä hetkellä ensisijaiselta tehtävältä. Rauhan pysyvää säilymistä ei kuitenkaan voida taata, ellei sen todellisia edellytyksiä ole olemassa. Vakaat ja yhdenmukaiset sosiaaliset olosuhteet

The main event of the Swedish Battalion's Christmas celebrations was a Christmas eve swimming party at the Constantia hotel beach, Famagusta. All those who managed to swim ten yards out — and bring themselves ashore without assistance from medical personnel — received a 'Polar Bear Club' certificate and a glass of specially prepared punch. Last in the water was Santa Claus himself — thrown in. Pictured above he is talking to the second in command of the 28th Battalion, Lieutenant Colonel Richard Werke from Malmö.

NEWS FROM STRATHCONA RANCH

NOW that Christmas is behind us there is only the New Year festivities to survive in 1964 and we rather optimistically predict that 1965 will be clear sailing. All hands at the ranch certainly hope the first three months are not only clear but quick sailing.

Last Wednesday evening the Officers hosted the Senior NCO's at a traditional "At home to the Sergeants" party. Despite certain accusations levelled the following morning the Officers did not really try to fill the NCO's in. At any rate we thought we were a little subtle in our endeavours and we're inclined to think that it was much more so than the approach taken by the Senior NCO's at their "At home to the Officers" on Sunday afternoon.

There are several junior Officers in the squadron who honestly feel that the SSM's favourite drink "The Happy Green Giant" has been improperly named. They feel that a more appropriate name would be "The Dirty Green Monster" and Britannia Barnes has proposed an even stronger un-printable name for this concoction! Needless to say both parties were very enjoyable even though the remains the following mornings would not attest to this. Surprisingly enough the officers and sergeants put together a pretty mean singing group on both occasions and we're sure Hank Snow would have been proud of our efforts.

On Christmas Eve the officers were briefly entertained by a rather shakey but persistent choir lead by Troopers Ring and Tobin. After a few drinks the officers moved to the Men's canteen where they spent an enjoyable hour talking and partaking of refreshments with the men.

The Christmas dinner was exceptionally good this year as evidenced by the rapid devouring of 120 pounds of Turkey by the men. A vote of thanks must be extended to our very capable cook staff for not only the efforts put forth on this meal, but all meals we have had while in Cyprus. Every man in this squadron will say that no one eats better than a Strathcona.

1ST BN THE CANADIAN GUARDS

CHRISTMAS 1964 is over and the Battalion is getting back to normal after its first, only, Cypriot Christmas. It was, surprisingly enough, a fairly normal Christmas. Turkey dinner was the order of the day at all companies, but the largest gathering was at Troodos Road Camp where some 250 junior ranks sat down to dine. Dinner was served by the officers and senior NCOs and thanks to the benevolence of some Canadian breweries the inefficiency of the waiters went unnoticed.

An international note was added by the presence of a

CHRISTMAS AT HQ UNFICYP

CHRISTMAS at HQ UNFICYP was a truly international affair. On Christmas Day, headed by the pipes and drums of 41 Irish Battalion, Officers, Warrant Officers and Senior NCOs representing all nationalities in the Force marched from the Sergeant's Mess to the dining hall to serve a really splendid lunch to the soldiers. The pipes and drums played throughout the meal and everyone was in great heart. CQMS John Duggan and his band — Sgt Doc O'Connor (Side Drum), Cpl Vincent O'Reilly (Tenor Drum), Cpl Billy McKnight and Pte John Kelly (Pipes) certainly put on a great performance and richly deserved the storm of applause they received.

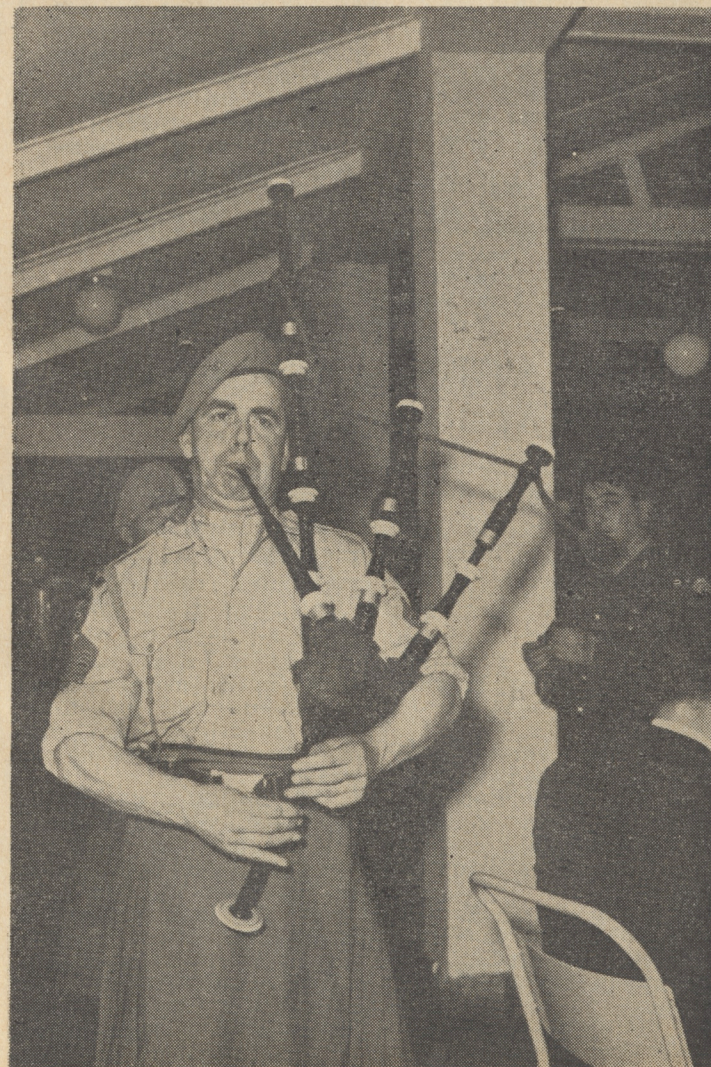

On the morning of Boxing Day, the first rounds of a seven a side soccer competition were played. The final was held on Sunday afternoon (27 December) when HQ UNFICYP — a combined Danish, Swedish and English side, beat 8 Infantry Workshops by two goals to one.

During the afternoon of Boxing Day a comic seven a side match was played between the Officers and the WOs and Sergeants. It had been intended to give some account of this game, but complete confusion reigned and most spectators could form no clear opinion of the match — in which both a donkey and a landrover seemed to play vital roles — so we will pose the questions that were uppermost in most peoples minds at the finish; was it soccer, rugby, hockey or cricket? How many goals did the landrover let through, and please, somebody, what was the final score?

choral group from the Austrian Field Hospital, who entertained with some Austrian Christmas music. A band made up of increment personnel then moved into the limelight and the music was a little more up-tempo.

Among those who spent the holiday season travelling was the Commanding Officer, Lt Col Mulherin who, in order to visit each company during the dinner hour, had to do some fast moving, and of course, missed dinner himself as a result. The Padres also averaged about four services per day over the three day period.

So much for the normal, on Boxing Day there took place a "soccer" game which must be unique in Battalion history. Captain Douglas reports that he had 28 players while the opposition, 70 Sqn RAF, had something less than that. The rules appear to have been ill defined and involved some three balls, two barrels of wine, and a couple of lethal "water" bottles. The Battalion team played brilliantly and even had a helping hand from Santa Claus Haynes, but despite his stalwart efforts they were narrowly defeated by an 18 to 1 margin. After the game both teams and their supporters adjourned to the 70 Sqn Billet Bar. Reports of the happenings there are confused.

It now only remains to prepare to welcome 1965 with the hope that it will bring a solution to the present problems, and despite the obvious success of the Christmas season in Cyprus 1964, that the Battalion will celebrate next Christmas in Canada.

amounted to 1650 lbs.

The evening finished with impromptu sing-songs in the Canteens and Messes. For the less energetic, film shows were given. A really enjoyable day was had by all.

For some people however it was a normal day's work, as 40% of the unit were on full-time duty on check-points and outposts. They had their celebrations on Sunday 27 December, when they had completed their tour of duty.

GENERAL AGREEMENT THAT O.A.U. SHOULD PLAY MAJOR ROLE IN CONGO SETTLEMENT

NO formal resolution had been submitted to the Security Council as of last week as this United Nations body pursued its debate on the Congo.

As of Wednesday last, all Council members had been heard and the debate brought out a general agreement that the Organization of African Unity (OAU) should play a major role in seeking a solution, but differing views were expressed on specific steps required.

The Representative of the Congo, Theodore Idzumburi, said his Government was quite ready to cooperate with the O.A.U., but asked how such cooperation could be fruitful when certain African countries are supplying arms to the Congolese rebels. The Council, he said, should see to it that foreign intervention in the Congo was halted, and aid to the rebels stopped.

In reply to specific charges against these countries, Foreign Minister Ganao of Congo—Brazzaville denied his country was extending aid to the rebels, Foreign Minister Batsio of Ghana said his country would never do anything to impair the Congo's integrity, and Foreign Minister Maghoud of the Sudan denied his country was lending its airfields for shipment of arms to the rebels.

Ambassador Bouattoura of Algeria told a press conference, however, that in the present situation it would not be intervention for a country such as his own or the United Arab Republic to send arms to the Congolese rebels.

These speakers, along with Foreign Minister Murumbi of Kenya, continued to press for the condemnation of the recent United States—Belgian intervention in the Stanleyville area as an aggressive intervention in African affairs. Mr. Murumbi urged for a Congolese cease-fire, the ousting of foreign mercenaries, and talks leading to a coalition government. Meanwhile, there would be a halt to any military aid to either side in the Congo.

Prof. Jiri Hajek of Czechoslovakia supported the complaint brought by 18 African States that last month's U.S.—Belgian paratrooper operation in Stanleyville was an aggressive intervention. The purpose, he said, was to strike a blow against the patriotic forces of the Congo and to perpetuate colonialism.

Ambassador Ortiz Sanz of Bolivia and Ambassador Silvent Nielson of Norway supported the operation as a purely humanitarian mission, requested by the Congolese Government.

The Bolivian Representative urged the countries of Africa to bury their resentments nourished by the memory of colonialism and look rather to the future in vaster and more generous terms.

"I am happy to send to you, and through you to all the personnel of the United Nations Force in Cyprus, my warmest greetings of the season and my best wishes for the year ahead.

"The fact that the present situation in Cyprus contrasts so favorably with the situation at this time last year is the finest tribute to the splendid effort that all of you in UNFICYP have been making.

"I hope that you will all have an enjoyable and peaceful holiday season and that the coming months will bring still greater success to the common objective of a peaceful Cyprus.

"I wish you all a Happy and Rewarding New Year."

RUSSIA VETOES ANGLO - U.S DRAFT RESOLUTION

LAST week the Soviet Union vetoed the British-United States draft resolution dealing with the recent Israel-Syria border clash following the rejection of the Moroccan amendments which would have had the Council deplore Israel's resort to aerial action against Syria in the course of the incident.

Israel said Syria started the clash and the air action had become necessary in order to stop the Syrian shelling of villages.

The Soviet Union argued that Israel was the guilty party and said she could not support the resolution because it tried to give equal treatment to the aggressor and to the victim.
